THE CHALLENGE

Translating your data is only half the battle. Making sure it gets to the right place, securely and on time, is the other half. Most teams either build and maintain costly direct connections to every trading partner or rely on slow, opaque legacy VANs where they're left guessing whether a document was delivered. When something breaks, there's no one to call and no way to see exactly what happened.

THE SOLUTION

ANC™ is our private, transparent, cloud-managed value-added network. It securely moves critical files between your systems and trading partners across all major protocols (SFTP, FTP/s, AS2, APIs) with full visibility across the ANC network. You're not just viewing documents. You can download, resend, and make controlled updates when needed. No guessing. No chasing support to confirm delivery. You see exactly what we see. All without adding infrastructure overhead to your IT team.

HOW IT WORKS

- 1. Send — Your system sends data to ANC through any supported protocol.
- 2. Route — ANC routes the message to the right application or trading partner.
- 3. Track — The network tracks every message while it's in transit with full visibility.
- 4. Deliver — ANC confirms delivery once the message arrives securely, with 997 reconciliation.
